DONATE LOVERS' LEAP PARK TO CITY OF WACO

BOLTON-CAMERON FAMILIES PRESENT BEAUTIFUL AND HISTORIC SITE TO CITY.

HAD RECENTLY PURCHASED IT WHEN LEASE REFUSED

CITY COMMISSION IN ACCEPTANCE OF SITE—MAY LEAD TO BEAUTIFUL SCENIC DRIVE.

Lovers' Leap park tract, a piece of ground unexcelled in Central Texas scenically and historic in the memory of Wacoans, was presented to the city Thursday by the Cameron family. Those who are the donors of the tract are: Mrs. Flora B. Cameron, Mrs. Margaret C. Bolton, W. W. Cameron and E. R. Bolton, Waco; Mrs. Flora M. Baird, Buffalo, New York.

In all probability this tract, a few hundred yards above the confluence of the Brazos and the Bosque, will be connected with Cameron park driveway when the city works out its plans fully.

In presenting to the city commission the offer of the beautiful Lovers' Leap land Thursday morning, E. R. Bolton said, in part:

"Mr. Cameron and I have a proposition to present to the commission, and wish to do so without prejudice or embarrassment to the body. It is for the commission to say candidly what they wish to do. Our proposition is embodied in a communication fully explaining the situation. We do not feel that we are doing half what we would like to do and it is a privilege to make this little offer.

Purchased it Recently.

"The matter has not been under consideration long, and came about when the military committee of the Chamber of Commerce tried to lease the sixty acres in question. It was found that the owners would not lease the land, and as it was desirable to get it in connection with the soldiers' camp which has been secured for Waco, Mr. Cameron and I finally decided to buy it. When we spoke to our families about the purchase, they immediately wanted it to be used for city park purposes, and as this coincided exactly with our view, the decision was reached at once.

"I hope the commission will say as little as possible about the matter, as the gift is small; it is nothing to what we would like to do, and hope to do if the Lord prospers us. We are the ones who will get much benefit from the little offering, because of the pleasure it affords us to present it to the people as indicated in the agreement herewith presented."

Richards in Acceptance.

After the written document had been read by City Secretary John Davis, showing the terms of the offer, Commissioner Ben Richards said:

"I move that we accept this generous gift with great pleasure. This is a time when I would like to be a silver-tongued orator in order to properly voice the appreciation of the commission on behalf of the people."

Commissioner Bryant Allen, seconding the motion of Commissioner Richards, said: "I want to second that motion, but feel almost ashamed to accept this added amount from the Cameron family, already most generous towards the people. They have certainly been good to Waco. I also move that we name a committee to draw up a resolution voicing our thanks and that this resolution be published in the press and copies be furnished the donors."

"The motion to accept the offer as outlined in the communication and to prepare a resolution of thanks then passed unanimously by a rising vote, in which Mayor John Dollins joined. Mayor Dollins also said as the vote was taken:

"We are all gratified that we have in Waco such a liberal and thoughtful family, and that others have seen fit to think of the comfort and well being of the people in gifts like C. M. Seley park, the making possible of the River driveway and other good works."

Letter of Presentation.

The letter of presentation to the city which was read by City Secretary John C. Davis, and which was agreed to immediately, follows:

Waco, Texas, June 28, 1917.
To the Honorable Mayor and Commissioners, City of Waco:

Gentlemen: Recently we purchased sixty acres of the White tract, commonly known as Lovers' Leap Property which was in litigation and which was necessary in the proposed army camp site, but could not be leased on account of the litigation which was pending. We have agreed to lease this property to the government on terms named by them.

We feel that at some future time this property will be of some value to the city of Waco for park purposes, and we all agree to deed same to the city at any time within five years from date, free of any cost, subject to any lease we make to the United States government, and under the following conditions:

First—Same conditions to apply as are in the deed to the city of Waco, covering the Wm. Cameron park property.

Second—That the city of Waco de-

RUMORS IN WACO THAT

ARMY CAMP ENGINEERS WILL COME NEXT WEEK

There were rumors and rumors on the streets Thursday afternoon regarding the appearance soon of engineers of the army site camp site which has been secured for Waco. These rumors placed the appearance of the engineers definitely as next week and some of them named Monday as the time when they were supposed to come. Inquiry made in the matter brought the answer from members of the Commercial club who have been close to the proposition that "nothing definite has developed."

FIELD ARTILLERY IN

PLANS FOR NEW DRIVE TO GET 100 RECRUITS

A big mass meeting tonight at 8:30 on the court house lawn, 38 men secured Wednesday, 30 Thursday, a total of approximately 90 altogether and the final rally to come Saturday is the way recruiting is going on with Capt. Erwin J. Clark's light field artillery battery.

War strength for the company is 100—100 yet to secure.

West and Moody will be visited today, Moody in the morning and West at 4 p. m. These towns have been advised of the coming of the recruiting officers and preparations have been made to have crowds at each place. China Springs was visited by a delegation Thursday.

At the Friday night mass meeting, which will be led by W. T. Wheeler, under the auspices of the Y. M. B. L. and the Chamber of Commerce, Assistant Adjutant General J. A. McCalmont, John Donaboe and others will speak.

Capt. Clark is in receipt of the following telegram from Brig.-Gen. John A. Hulen, commander-in-chief of the national guards:

"The number of men to be drafted by the federal government in your community will be reduced by the number of men who have taken the oath of enlistment in the Texas national guard to and including midnight of June 30. You will, therefore, push with all your energy and ability to get all the men possible to take the oath of enlistment on or before Saturday night. At exactly 2 o'clock Saturday morning you will wire this office the exact total number of men who have taken the enlistment oath up to that time. The commission will send you two telegrams to me on Saturday, one at exactly 3 o'clock and one at midnight. Your community will not receive credit for those enlisting after Saturday."

E. S. KLEIN TO BUILD

NEW BUSINESS HOUSE

Eward S. Klein was granted permission to erect a brick building on Bridge street Thursday by the city commission. The building will be fire-proof, with steel ceilings, and a duplicate of a building already erected by Mr. Klein at this point.

CLARK BRANDS ALLEGATION

THAT BATTERY IS MULE UNIT SERIOUS MISSTATEMENT

"The battery of field artillery that is being organized in Waco will be a standard battery and the best horses obtainable in the country will be furnished the men," states Captain Clark of that organization. "The rumor that has been circulated that this is to be a mule battery is without foundation and should be branded as a serious misstatement."

"A mule battery is a mountain battery. The battery that is being rapidly organized in Waco is a field battery and every man in the organization rides a horse, the best that can be bought by the government."

INTRODUCING THOSE WHO

MAY SEEK EXEMPTIONS TO CENSORS IN THEIR CASE

TO THE YOUNG MEN of Waco of draft age it will be interesting to know something of the men with whom they will deal in case the instance of their selection comes under the question of exemption. The Waco exemption board is composed of O. L. Strubling, chairman; Allan D. Stanford and Dr. J. M. Hale.

Mr. Strubling, prominent Waco attorney, is a man of clear vision and has an intimate knowledge of men and is a fine judge of human nature. He is sure he is right acts, in the opinion of those who know him well.

Dr. J. M. Hale is a dignified, conservative and just-minded man. He considers everything carefully, watches developments and men, when he is sure he is right acts, in the opinion of those who know him well.

HECKLE WILSON IS SUFFS' PLAN IN WASHINGTON

WILL FLAUNT BANNERS BEFORE WHITE HOUSE AS RESULT OF CRUSADE.

By Associated Press. Washington, June 28.—Women suffragists plan to continue demonstrations before the white house or places President Wilson may visit despite the arrest of twenty-five women and the jailing of six in the last week. Miss Alice Paul, head of the woman's party, announced today. The police hold to their determination to arrest women attempting to display banners bearing printed appeals to the president on charges of obstructing the sidewalk or promoting disorderly gatherings, police officials said.

Emphasizing their attitude, the police arrested today two more suffragists, Mrs. Calderhead of Wichita, Kan., and Elizabeth Stuyvesant of New York, who were trying to enter a hall where President Wilson was speaking, to display suffrage banners. Later the women were released and no charge was placed against them.

The six women who went to jail yesterday rather than pay fines imposed in police court for obstructing the sidewalk will be entertained on their release tomorrow morning with a breakfast in the garden of the women's party headquarters, a half block from the white house.

JAMES FERGUSON IS HELD BUT NOT THE GOVERNOR

James Ferguson is being held to the federal grand jury in Waco to answer charges of failing to register June 5. "What? Oh, no, this isn't the governor. This is James Ferguson, negro, of Hearn."

T. R. WATSON AGAIN MUST WAIT ACTION OF HIGH COURT

T. R. Watson again faced disappointment this week. No action was taken upon his case in the court of criminal appeals at Austin during the past week. Watson was indicted September 26, 1916, for killing John S. Patterson, commissioner of banking and insurance, while an inspection was being made of the Watson bank at Teague. The killing occurred on August 28, 1916. The fifty-four district court heard the case and Watson was sentenced to ninety-nine years' imprisonment. Countless efforts have been made to obtain another trial, but so far no action has been taken.

WATER SWEEPS VALLEYS.

By Associated Press. Baker, Ore., June 28.—Carrying destruction in its path, millions of gallons of water from a reservoir high in the Elkhorn mountains, fifteen miles west of Haines, swept through the village of Rock Creek, destroyed crops on thousands of acres, killed livestock, deprived Baker and Haines of electric power and interrupted telegraph and telephone service today. Tonight, so far as known, no lives were lost, but the loss to crops, buildings and crops is many thousands of dollars.

GOVERNOR NOT TO CALL SPECIAL LEGISLATURE TO CONSIDER UNIVERSITY ROW

Special to The News. Austin, June 28.—Governor Ferguson tonight denied the report sent out yesterday that he contemplated calling a special session of the legislature to consider university matters.

"I see no necessity for a special session on the university question and I have not discussed or suggested any such possibility," said the governor. "I have given no attention to the university question recently, as it is not incumbent on me to do anything further than already has been done in the premises."

INSPECTED SITES FOR TUBERCULAR HOSPITAL

An inspection of sites Thursday was made by County Engineer R. J. Windrow, County Physician J. R. McCormick and Commissioner J. N. Boyd of tracts of land which may be needed as a site for the proposed tubercular sanitarium.

The inspection yesterday probably will be all that will be done in that direction at present, but careful observation was given the various tracts seen.

It is thought that until the question of financing the proposition is more nearly determined it will be unnecessary to give consideration to the matter of a site, as the site is a sequence of acts of determining character in the way of financing.

FERGUSON DOESN'T CARRY SPITE INTO THE FAMILY

Special to The News. Austin, June 28.—Will T. Brady has been appointed by Governor Ferguson as judge of the new El Paso county court at law. He is a brother of John W. Brady of Austin, president of the central committee of the University ex-Students' association, who has been making a hard fight on the governor.

BIG COTTON CROP IS PREDICTED AT MART AMONG ALL

Special to The News. Mart, June 28.—The outlook for a big cotton crop at top prices in this locality is now predicted by every one. There is no damage expected from the boll weevil and the plant is showing unusual growth. The acreage is larger than ever before and hundreds of farmers will reap tremendous results. The showers in this locality the past few days have done much good for both corn and cotton.

WALK 124 MILES.

By Associated Press. Dallas, June 28.—Eight negroes who walked from Longview to Dallas—124 miles—to enlist in the army, were keenly disappointed today when told at a local recruiting station that all negro regiments were recruited to full capacity and no negroes were being taken.

BRAZIL BREAKS WITH GERMANY MAY ENTER WAR

REVOKES DECREE OF NEUTRALITY AND MORALLY AT LEAST JOINS THE ENTENTE.

By Associated Press. Brazil is no longer a neutral in the world war and the German empire has another enemy arrayed against it. Having previously revoked this policy, Brazil has now come definitely into the open and announced that it can no longer be considered neutral in the war between the entente and Germany.

Although no announcement has been made as to whether the South American republic will actually enter into hostilities by its revocation of neutrality, it definitely aligns itself morally on the side of the United States and the entente.

Striking on a two-mile front south of Lens, the Canadians, protected by effective curtain fires, stormed and captured German first-line trenches before Avion and also the village of Leauvette. They defeated, in their onslaughts, men of the crack Prussian guard and the Fifth grenadier guards, whose machine gun and rifle fire and uncured wire entanglements could not stay them. Their line now extends to within one mile of the center of Lens.

On the remainder of the front in France there have been bombardments between the French and the Germans. In Belgium the Germans are carrying out heavy bombardment of French and Belgian positions.

Only minor operations are in progress on the other fronts.

OIL WELL BURNING.

By Associated Press. Okmulgee, Okla., June 28.—Lightning striking a cased-in oil well and gas well in the Bald Hill fourteen miles from here this afternoon. The well is still burning and can be seen from here.

68 Children Are Dead in Missouri Counties From Summer Complaints

By Associated Press. St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—Sixty-eight children have died from a severe form of summer complaint in two counties in south-eastern Missouri during the last few weeks according to information telephoned here today.

More than two hundred persons, mostly children now are ill with the disease and about a fourth of these are in a serious condition. Several persons in middle life have been affected but the victims here for the most part are under two years old. No one in middle life has died.

According to the reports from the physicians the epidemics that have struck the two counties are similar but not identical. Dr. M. C. Harrison, coroner of Dunklin county, said the deaths there were due to enterocolitis, an infection of the intestines. The disease in Scott county was said to be ilioecolitis, a summer complaint to enterocolitis.

The disease is attributed to abnormal weather conditions in southeastern

TAX BILL FAST ROUNDING INTO SHAPE IN SENATE; CONSIDER NEW BOND ISSUE

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 28.—With revision of the war tax bill virtually completed and now totalling $1,449,000,000 against the $1,800,000,000 levy of increased taxes adopted by the house, the senate finance committee today considered authorization of additional bonds. Senator Stone formally proposed a bond issue of $500,000,000. The committee plans to reach a decision tomorrow and to fix the rate to be imposed on war excess profits—probably 16 per cent.

During lengthy committee discussion of the bond question a large issue was not suggested, although with half billion of bonds Senator Simmons said the bill still would fall short by $300,000,000 and probably more of meeting the ensuing year's war expense. From excess profits the committee now plans under its latest estimates to raise $300,000,000.

Manufacturers and their representatives generally are opposing the repeal proposed by the committee of the drawback by which they received from the government practically all duties paid on raw materials which later are exported. In such cases the government retains one per cent of the duty paid as an administration charge.

GERMANS SHELL RHEIMS SEND 1,200 MISSILES

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 28.—The official French communication tonight reads: "Intermittent bombardments occurred in the region of Hurbelise monument on Teton Height, Mont Blond and Camillel."

A German airplane was brought down by one of our machines and fell south of Craonne. The pilot and an officer observer were taken prisoner.

"The Germans continued to bombard Rheims, into which 1,200 shells were fired today, eight striking the cathedral."

AND MEANWHILE SOME SENATORS DEBATE POLICY OF NATION FOOD CONTROL

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 28.—Retail food prices in the United States advanced on an average of 5 per cent from April 16 to May 15, as shown in figures compiled today by the bureau of labor statistics. During the year ending with May 15 they increased 33 per cent.

The biggest jump during the month was in flour, which advanced 29 per cent. The increase in corn meal was 15 per cent, beans 14 per cent, bread 13 per cent and rice 11 per cent. The only drop in prices was in onions, 36 per cent, and butter, 9 per cent.

SWEEPING PRICE CUT IN COAL IS AGREED

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 28.—The sweeping reductions in the price of bituminous coal at all mines east of the Mississippi river, ranging from $1 to $5 a ton to the public with a further cut of 56c a ton to the government, were agreed upon today at conferences between the operators and government officials. The new prices become effective July 1.

ST. PAUL TO INTRODUCE BELGIAN COMMISSIONERS TO TYPICAL U. S. PICNIC

St. Paul, June 28.—Belgian commissioners to the United States will be introduced to the democracy of an old-fashioned American civic picnic when they visit St. Paul July 4.

At Como park, where St. Paul's Fourth of July civic celebration will be held, the visitors will be offered lemonade in tin cups and butter milk in sanitary paper cups and popcorn, as well as every one else on the grounds.

NO EPIDEMIC DANGER HERE SAYS CITY DOCTOR

The mysterious malady, similar to enterocolitis, a form of colic, which has been the cause of sixty-eight deaths among young children in the last two days in Scott county, Mo., is caused by climatic changes, according to physicians.

"This malady usually affects young children in the spring during the change of seasons," says Dr. R. F. Minnock, city physician, "the period of danger in Waco should have been during the month of April and as that time has passed no fear need be felt here of the epidemic. "This form of colic is always brought about by sudden temperature changes or over-feeding," states Dr. Minnock. "The malady, if it be enterocolitis, will cease to be an epidemic when a change in weather comes. It is always among very young children."

LODGE FIGHTS IN SENATE FOR BEER AND WINE

NEW CLOTURE RULE MAY BE ENFORCED TO SPEED UP FOOD BILL.

FIGHT IS CENTERING ON QUESTION OF PROHIBITION

SET SPEECHES ARE TO BE MADE AND ANOTHER LONG DELAY IS ANTICIPATED.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 28.—The fight in congress over government control of food and other necessities today virtually narrowed to the question of prohibition.

The house control bill as amended by the senate agriculture committee was substituted in the senate for its original draft and debate proceeded. Senator Lodge opening the prohibition contest with a speech in favor of continuing manufacture of beer and wine. The bill as it now stands would prohibit the manufacture of all intoxicating beverages, but empower the president to exempt wines.

Senators Johnson of California and Kellogg of Minnesota delivered prepared speeches on the general features of the bill, promising it their support as a war measure.

Many Are to Speak.

Lapse of several days in general discussion and delivery of set speeches on other provisions before the prohibition fight develops in earnest is in prospect. There is pending a motion by Senator Hardwick to send the bill back to the committee on the ground that prohibition and other important sections are unconstitutional.

Senate sentiment is said generally to favor stopping manufacture of distilled spirits, so the debate will center upon beer and wines.

Resort for the first time to the senate's new cloture rule in an effort to hasten action may be attempted.

Senator Chamberlain, in charge of the bill, said tonight he hopes general speechmaking would end tomorrow, and that the senate by Saturday would be considering committee amendments, expected to take several days. The prohibition sections under such procedure would be reached last.

Johnson Opens Debate.

Senator Johnson, opening the debate on the substitute bill, declared its enactment necessary to win the war. America, he said, must make the sacrifice in dollars and creature comforts within the next year, or she must make thereafter the sacrifice in men—and then, ultimately, the sacrifice in material things as well.

There must be sacrifice of profits just as there is sacrifice of blood, the senator said, he declared when an ordinary man sees his loved boy snatched from his home to be shot to pieces upon a foreign soil and reads of profits asked by a corporation created by his government of $600,000,000 a year during the war, he cannot be blamed for the demand in which "our people unite and in which the congress unites by the passage of just such bills as this."

Praise for Hoover.

Senator Johnson praised Herbert C. Hoover and said he is particularly fitted for the task of food administrator.

Senator Lodge, saying he would vote for the bill, after he had been carefully considered, opposed some of its provisions as amazing and said public "excitement" for food control legislation is pressing upon congress with little public conception of the powers the bill proposes to confer.

Opposing the "dry" legislation as an injection of a moral issue and not a war measure, the senator directed attention to the fact that the effort to impose prohibition on the country "has been mixed up with food conservation" by congress itself and not by the administration. He declared himself in favor of prohibiting the manufacture of distilled liquors during the war, but thought that beer and wines should be excluded, but added:

"Close all the breweries at a stroke, throw 100,000 people out of employment and drive the hundreds of thousands of laboring and other people who take their glass of beer and see no harm in it, and you will engender dissatisfaction and resentment."

Arguments Pro-Wet.

Telling how New England dairy interests depend upon brewers' by-products for cattle feed, the senator said stoppage of brewing would send many milk cattle to the slaughter house and that it would also be likely to double the price of bread by suddenly reducing by 40 per cent the supply of yeast, made largely from brewing products.

Germany, Senator Lodge declared, has not restricted alcoholic beverages, in any way, while France gives her soldiers' regular wine rations. "And," he added, "I think nobody will dispute that the German and French soldiers are of good fighting quality. It is idle to say that the men who drink beer and light wines are undermined."

WARNS CENSOR BUNGLING.

By Associated Press. New York, June 28.—Lord Northcliffe, British high commissioner to the United States, in an address to magazine editors and writers at a luncheon here today, expressed the hope that the United States would not muddle the censorship as England did the first three years of the war.

ELEVEN JURORS IN PORTER CASE FROM 2 VENIRES

Special to The News.
Belton, June 28.—The case of the state versus Willie Porter, charged by indictment with the murder of Miss Emma Staley on March 12 is attracting much attention, the court room being crowded all day with hundreds of spectators. The case was called on for the crowded condition of the court room. The special venire of 125 men was exhausted at 10 o'clock this morning with ten jurors in the box. When court recessed at two o'clock orders were given to the sheriff from the court to have an additional venire of twenty-five men to appear at that time. This venire was exhausted at 5:45 with only one of the two jurors in the box. The court ordered Sheriff Hugh Smith to have another venire of twenty-five men in court tonight at eight o'clock. All witnesses were excused until nine o'clock Friday morning.

ANARCHIST IS REBUKED BY NEW YORK COURT IN TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY

By Associated Press.
New York, June 28.—Alexander Berkman, anarchist, was sharply rebuked by Judge Mayer in United States district court here today when Berkman resumed the examination of witnesses for the jury that will hear the testimony in his trial and that of Emma Goldman on charges of conspiring to hamper the operations of the selective draft.

"I am not going to let you take interminable time to examine jurors," said Judge Mayer, after Berkman had propounded questions to which the prosecution objected as it had yesterday.

"I pointed out to you at your request what improper questions are and I do not propose to have you ask them. I will not stand any more nonsense or any more delays. Let us have no more 'acting'."

Miss Goldman also was permitted to examine the talesmen.

HOW U. S. ARMY UNITS WILL BE DESIGNATED; DIVISIONS NUMBER 360

By Associated Press.
San Antonio, June 28.—Advices received by the Southern department from the war department today are that the first infantry regiment of the national army will be the 210th United States Infantry. Heretofore there has been no intimation of how the new army units would be numbered or designated. In the regular army at present regimental numbers run up to and including 65, the 65th being the Porto Rican regiment. National guard regiments will take precedence over the new armies in the regiments on numbering and as there are 144 regiments in the national guard the last will be numbered 209. It is expected, for purposes of general information, national guard regiments will be permitted to write the name of their state in parentheses after their official number, such as "65th (New York)." "121st (Illinois)," the number indicating the place of the regiment in the whole army, regardless of the number of regiments which the national guard of any state may furnish. On present calculations for 150 infantry regiments in the new national army the numbers will run up to the 360th. The regular army now contains twenty-five cavalry regiments and the first national guard regiment will be the Twenty-sixth, with the name of the state ended in parentheses. The same system will apply to the field artillery and other branches.

MONEY ON HAND FOR PRESENT BRAZOS WORK SAY BAKER—SELEY

Regarding the status of the Brazos river in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, which has just been approved by the house at Washington, this bill carrying no appropriations for the Brazos river except for Freeport harbor at the mouth, Col. W. W. Seley said Thursday:

"I have not yet heard from Senator Morris Sheppard, who has been enthusiastic and confident. I know that the re-survey matter has been proposed but did not know the exact status of that. There is, I think, enough money on hand from the last appropriation, to continue work on the lock and dam now under way below Waco and which is near Hearne, for several months."

Former Mayor James B. Baker, when asked about the failure of the Brazos river to appear in the bill in the house, said:

"We have plenty of money on hand to keep work going on the lock and dam near Hearne, at Goodland, for a

SUPPLY COMPANY IS MUSTERED IN HERE

At 12:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon the supply company of the National Guard, which was recruited here through the active efforts of Capt. M. E. Yinger, was mustered into the federal service. The mustering in of this company marked the closing of a whirlwind dash which was one of the most successful features of the various recruiting campaigns in Waco.

The company will be attached to the Second Field artillery. In the call thirty-seven men were asked for, but the response brought forty-two for enlistment and others were eager to get in. The captain is Marion E. Yinger, with Downell Naylor as first lieutenant. The personnel of the company follows: From Waco, J. J. Dresler, Theodore M. Gribble, E. W. Koerth, Joe Herman, Chester Storey, L. J. Livingston, Robin S. Dale, Clem Herbellin, Chas. McKee, P. J. Nieball, E. T. Oliver, F. H. Redding, C. O. Saunders, J. C. Scherwitz, C. E. Sovey, C. W. NO REPORTS RECEIVED OFFICIALLY FROM ABROAD AS TO PERSHING MOVE

By Associated Press.
Washington, June 28.—Complete reports from Major General Pershing upon the landing of his first expedition in France still were lacking to night and the war department remained silent. The delay may be accounted for by the report that until today General Pershing did not personally visit the American encampment.

At the navy department reports are awaited from the commander of the convoy that accomplished without an incident so far as known one of the greatest tasks assigned a naval force. There was much discussion today as to when the American forces will take over a part of the great battle line in France.

Whatever plans have been made in this regard are closely guarded. No official of any branch of the government would admit having any knowledge on the subject.

In a general way, however, it is known that a short period must elapse before they can be thrown forward into the trenches.

COTTON IMPORTS FALLEN OFF IN LONDON MARKETS

By Associated Press.
London, June 28.—Cotton imports in recent weeks have fallen below the point necessary to meet the demands of all the mills and stocks consequently are being depleted, said George Henry Roberts, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade in replying to a question in the house of commons today. Steps were being taken by the government to increase the imports of cotton as far as possible, added Mr. Roberts.

It is through the advertising columns of The Morning News. The Morning News reaches over 9,000 homes—more homes than there are in Waco. Morning News advertising puts you in touch with thousands whom you don't know personally—and it is the only effective means you have of securing their patronage.

Mrs. Elizabeth Speer, who will speak before the City Federation of Women's Missionary societies this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, has been touring the state in the interest of clean morals for camp towns. Mrs. Speer has just come from Dallas and Fort Worth, in both instances speaking at the invitation of the mayor of the cities. Mayor Dollins invited Mrs. Speer to speak in Waco and this time and place was chosen.

The meeting of the federation will be held at the First Baptist church all day, beginning at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Speer's address will be followed by an address at 3:15 by Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis, state president of the W. C. T. U. She will speak also on the subject of the eradication of vice from army posts.

Mr. John Leahy O'Brien, who was last night married to Miss Esse Forrester, was host to the bridal party for dinner at the Raleigh at 7 o'clock, just previous to the last rehearsal for the wedding.

Streamers of red, white and blue ribbon ran from the four corners, crossing in the center, where a flat floral design formed the centerpiece. The place favors were exquisite bridal bouquets of valley lilies. Six courses were served to the following:

F. Abiley, who is leaving to spend the summer in Kentucky; also to greet Mrs. Tabor of Hamilton, who is visiting her son, J. W. Tabor.

Punch and angel food were served in the dining room, which was prettily decorated with ferns and daisies. The affair was a simple bringing together of old friends and as such it was very enjoyable. Besides the club membership, there were present Mrs. E. L. Humphreys and Mrs. George Oliver.

MORNING PARTY FOR MRS. EMMETT HIGHTOWER.

Mrs. E. H. Bruyere complimented Mrs. Jennie Meyer's guest, Mrs. Emmett Hightower, with a delightful morning party on Thursday. Mrs. Hightower, as every one knows, is the wife of Rev. Emmett Hightower, one of the most popular ministers that Waco has had. Mrs. Hightower was well beloved by all those who came in contact with her, her intimate friendships not being limited to the church membership. Mrs. Bruyere was assisted in entertaining her guests by her three daughters, Messdames S. E. Schaeffer, Milton Mount and Marvin Self. The two brides contributed several songs, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the morning. After ice cream and cake had been served, the newly married sisters invited the whole party over to their own home next door, where they showed their pretty new apartments and their wedding presents, which have been put to good use.

WEDNESDAY BRIDGE WITH

NEIGHBORHOOD CIRCLE WITH MISS SMITH.

A neighborhood circle of girls has been formed under the auspices of the war relief department of the Y. W. C. A., with Miss Enrique Smith as chairman. The circle met yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and rapid progress was made on bandages. Knitting will be taken up shortly. Those present were:

MRS. MAXSON TALKS TO NEIGHBORHOOD LEADERS.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Maxson of Dallas met the leaders of the neighborhood circles of the war relief department of the Y. W. C. A. at the home of Mrs. A. J. Dossett, where she is visiting. Mrs. Maxson spoke to the leaders about war relief work, having been recently in close touch with this work in the East. She spoke from an intimate knowledge which made her remarks and the information she gave extremely interesting. Mrs. Maxson is an earnest Red Cross worker and chairman of a war relief circle, and was able to give the circle leaders the result of her own experience.

After her helpful and instructive address, a business meeting was held. As the Red Cross supply of materials for hand work is insufficient, it was decided to supplement this by means of a fund to be raised by the different circles in various ways, and used for the purchase of materials.

The first of these efforts will be a garden party on Mrs. Kendall's lawn, on Saturday afternoon from 6 to 8, and to this the public is cordially invited.

The chairman stressed the importance of the machine work to be done at the Red Cross headquarters and each leader was urged to send two members each week to aid in this. If this plan is carried out, forty women will go down each week for a morning's or afternoon's sewing.

The following are leaders of new circles: Messdames M. H. Jones, N. H. Church, Clements, F. L. Christian, M. B. Willis

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

If you were just a little Mink.
It's probable that you would think

A hollow log a home as grand
As any home within the land.

Anyway, it would suit you better Than any other home. That is, of course, if you were a Mink. This is exactly the kind of a home that Billy Mink had provided for his family. I suppose that to be strictly truthful I should have said that Mrs. Billy had provided it. It really was her choice, though I fancy that she had allowed Billy to think that it was his.

It was very cunningly hidden, was that home of Billy Mink's. It was so cunningly hidden that it was really

"Billy," said she, "come and see the hollow log."

No trouble at all to keep it a secret, and a secret it was, as you and I and Peter Rabbit know. In fact, not one of Billy's neighbors had the least idea where it was. They didn't know whether it was up the Laughing Brook, or down the Laughing Brook, and they never could tell from watching Billy or Mrs. Billy. As a matter of fact, it was up the Laughing Brook, almost up to the pond of Paddy the Beaver.

Just below where the Laughing Brook made a little splashing waterfall was a quiet pool in which trout love to live, and just a few steps back from this little pool was the thick, brushy top of a fallen tree in which a great amount of rubbish had collected—sticks and leaves brought down by the Laughing Brook when it was out of its banks in the early spring. Underneath all this was a hollow log, a perfectly splendid hollow log, open at the end toward the Laughing Brook, warm and dry, and with plenty of room inside. Mrs. Billy's sharp eyes had snapped joyously the very first time she had seen it. She had been up and down the whole length of the Laughing Brook and even over along the bank of the Big River into which the Laughing Brook flows and she knew that nowhere else was there anything to compare with this hollow log for a home.

"Billy," said she, "come see this old hollow log."

Billy came at once and as soon as he saw it he declared that it was the very place for their home. The more he examined it inside and out the more enthusiastic he grew, until in the end you would have supposed that he had discovered it himself. Mrs.
Billy said nothing, but quietly went ahead and made a cozy, comfortable bed in the farther end of the hollow log, and so the matter was settled.
There she spent most of her time when she wasn't out fishing or hauling for frogs or trying to catch a bird by way of a change of fare.

Then one never-to-be-forgotten morning when Billy poked his head in to see why she didn't come out to go fishing with him he found a splendid surprise awaiting him. Mrs. Billy was not alone. No, sir, she was not alone. There were five tiny babies there, five little, helpless mites whose eyes were not yet open and wouldn't be for some time. The old hollow log had become a nursery! Mrs. Billy allowed him no more than a glimpse of them and then sent him about his business. He went. There was something about Mrs. Billy that warned him that it was best for him to do as he was told. But he didn't go far. He was so puffed up with pride that he couldn't bear to even think of going far out of sight of that old tree-top under which was the hollow log. It had become the most wonderful and important place in the whole Great World.

THE WOMAN'S DIGESTAre We to Become Dry Without Parade?

By Anne Austin.

When on Saturday President Wilson won another big fight before congress in having the food bill passed through the house, the women all over the land had ample cause for rejoicing. Yet it seems that very few of us have waked up to the fact that the passing of this bill may mean prohibition during the period of the war. There were only five men who wanted to convert good grain into alcoholic drinks.

I tried to find out just what was the matter with the people. The news caused scarcely a ripple of excitement.

I was told that "nice men" had almost quit drinking anyway; that the liquor trade had definitely subsided almost two years ago.

For years we have carried banners and dressed the children up in white to ride on "prohibition" floats and still we didn't get what we wanted. The war came along and as a matter of food necessity the bill was introduced and passed through the house, and presto! the nation waked up to the fact that we may have "bone-dry" conditions for the period of the war. And that, of course, will mean indefinitely, for once we get a chance to show how pleasant the world can be without intoxicating liquors, we have faith in the result of a direct vote.

COTTON INCREASE CAUSE CONCERN FOR LIVERPOOL

TIED UP CONDITIONS OF CONTRACT MARKET PARTLY EXPLAIN CONDITIONS.

By Associated Press.

Manchester, June 28.—The extraordinary rise in cotton prices during the last few days has caused serious concern throughout the cotton trade. Liverpool attributes the rise to the tied up conditions of the contract market owing to the absence of "hedgers" and speculative selling (the latter being prohibited) plus free buying of futures and price fixing of call cotton by home consuming interests, and, of course, the big rise in America. Manchester and trade buying orders have largely contributed to the spectacular upward movement.

The Manchester Guardian has obtained the opinion of several experts and quoted Sir Charles MacArthur as follows:

"I have been away for about a fortnight," he said, "and on my return I find American cotton has gone up 10 pounds, which is equivalent to six pounds sterling a bale. There is now only about seven weeks' supply of American cotton in stock in Liverpool. I must confess to a feeling of intense disappointment that what I have advocated for so many years, namely, that those engaged in the cotton industry should try to regulate their own affairs and meet crises as they arise has not been acted upon. If the government intervenes, employers will have to act at their dictation. I have advocated the methods adopted in 1904, but the policy of procrastination has now gone so far that even more drastic methods will be necessary than at that time."

"At the present time there are many mills that would gladly close down and work on a forty-hour week or half time, but there will be always a certain number who would take advantage of a movement to safeguard the interests of the industry as a whole. If the crisis is to be overcome successfully there must be no exemptions. All mills must run on the same basis."

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mellested coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mellested coconut oil at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

and as to acquire and own stock in such corporations and also in pipe line companies to which it sells its pipe line or lines.

HOUSTON.—Each county will be credited with the number of men who volunteer, which will operate to reduce the number who will be drafted from that county. If the volunteer comes forward by June 30. Hulen's divisional headquarters to organizers of the units of the national guard of Texas now being recruited.

RAILROAD MAN HAD TO SPEND SAVINGS OF YEARS HE SAYS

HARRILL SUFFERED FOR TEN LONG YEARS WITHOUT FINDING RELIEF—SAYS HE IS NOW WELL AND STRONG SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

"I wish to goodness I had only known about Tanlac before, for I'd have saved myself years of suffering and my bank account would have been a great deal bigger," said C. C. Harrill, a well-known railroad man with the Texas & Pacific, who resides at 800 West Delknap street, Fort Worth, Texas, and who has been a resident of that city for more than thirty years.

"It was about ten years ago," Mr. Harrill continued, "that my troubles began. My appetite failed me and everything I ate soured on my stomach and formed gas that gave me terrible cramping pains and I could hardly get my breath. It seemed like there was a big hard lump right in my chest that was cutting off my breath. I got so I could hardly eat a thing that didn't bring on one of those attacks and sometimes it didn't seem like I would live through them. I tried everything I had ever heard of and spent every cent I had saved for years, trying to get relief but nothing that I took helped me at all."

"I read so much about Tanlac and the good it was doing that I decided to try a bottle. I have now taken four bottles and can truthfully say that it has entirely relieved my stomach troubles. My appetite is just splendid and everything I eat now agrees with me and does me good and I am never bothered with indigestion or those cramping pains in my stomach or chest anymore. I can eat anything I want and never have a minute's discomfort afterward and I am feeling better in every way than I have for years. Tanlac has sure done the work for me and I gladly recommend it to anyone who has troubles like mine were."

Tanlac is sold in Waco by Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE OF N. Y. POLICE BUNGLING

By Associated Press.
New York, June 28.—Additional evidence of police bungling in the search for Ruth Cruger, murdered high school student, was brought out today at the investigation Leonard M. Wallstein, commissioner of accounts, is conducting by order of Mayor Mitchel, to fix responsibility for police failure to find the body, which was hidden in the cellar of Alfredo Cocchi's bicycle shop.

Admission was wrung from Lieut. Francis A. Stinkamp of the fourth branch detective bureau, by whom the case was handled, that although a report of Miss Cruger's disappearance was made by Alfred M. Brown, a friend of the Cruger family, at midnight February 13, he had entered it in the complaint book as having been made February 14, at 9:45 a. m. His excuse was that he got the report at that time when he went on duty.

As a result of the delayed entry, Detective Sergeant John Lagarene was not assigned to the case until 2 p. m. February 14.

Detective Sergeant Edward Willi denied testimony of Police Lieutenant Brown earlier in the day that he had been told to aid Miss Cruger's friends in the search. Willi's record of eleven years contained eight charges against him, it was brought out at the inquiry, one of which involved a 14-year-old girl.

Commissioner Arthur Woods had a conference tonight with Mrs. Grace Humiston and the Cruger family's private detectives. It was announced the conference was held "with a view to the future."

RISK COMPANIES AT SEA OVER A WAR INSURANCE

ONE LOCAL COMPANY BELIEVES GOVERNMENT WILL PROVIDE BIG MEETING CALLED.

A matter of more than ordinary interest and the chief topic now discussed in life insurance circles in Waco are policies for men about to enter the war and a plan to meet financial conditions expected to be caused by an increased mortality.

That no definite plan to meet these conditions has been decided upon by the life insurance companies is evident from the wide variety of plans already submitted by many of the companies.

Sees Government Aid.

"I do not think that it is a risk that should be incurred by the insurance people," says A. R. Wilson, secretary of the American Life Insurance company, "and am under the impression that some action will be taken by the government at Washington in the near future. The situation should be met by the government and I have no doubt that it will. Our company has taken no action on the subject and there will be no changes written in our policies. They will remain as they have in the past and we will not attempt to meet the emergency by any changes."

Temporary Plans.

The National Life and Accident Insurance company of this city have made the following provision to date. The men who have already been written and have entered military service will be carried until January 1.

"By that date," states R. E. Johnson, superintendent, "we have reasons to believe that other provisions will be made. It is a matter that is going to take time to work out, as we have no statistics to work from. The insurance question in America and in England cannot be viewed from the same angle. Conditions differ and there is no similarity in insurance matters."

The whole life insurance situation will be discussed at a meeting of the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters to be held in New Orleans in September. A meeting of the American Life Insurance convention to be held also in September will consider these matters as will the annual meeting in New York city in January of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

FREUND EXPLAINS WAR TAX AS IT AFFECTS WACO TOBACCO USERS

How will the tobacco trade meet the war situation?

That is the question that confronts cigar and cigarette manufacturers, says Sam Freund of the Sam Freund & Co., tobacco dealers of Waco. Some manufacturers advocate the reduction in size of cigars and cigarette packages, others claim that it would be better to raise the price and make no change. Manufacturers of the "Camel" cigarette, for instance, state there will be no change made in the size of their package.

"The war tax proposed," says Mr. Freund, "will affect cigars in this manner: Cigars selling for less than 4c will not be taxed, from 4c to 6c a 100 $1 will be charged, from 6c to 10c $3; higher priced cigars will be taxed $6 and $7.50."

"There has been a widespread sentiment in tobacco circles against the useless waste of empty cigar boxes, several million dollars annually being consumed in the destruction of these cartons. The law forces the dealer to destroy the box and it cannot be used again to pack cigars in."

EVANGELIST KLEIN SPEAKS TO OLD FOLKS LAST NIGHT AT MORROW TABERNACLE

Evangelist Klein gave a most beautiful and impressive exposition of the twenty-third psalm and a strong appeal to the unrepentant in his tabernacle services at the center of the city last night. The old people were very much in evidence and occupied the front seats of the center of the tabernacle. The response was so good that the pastor had been living Christian lives from a few days to sixty-seven years. Requests were made by fully seventy-five for prayers for loved ones.

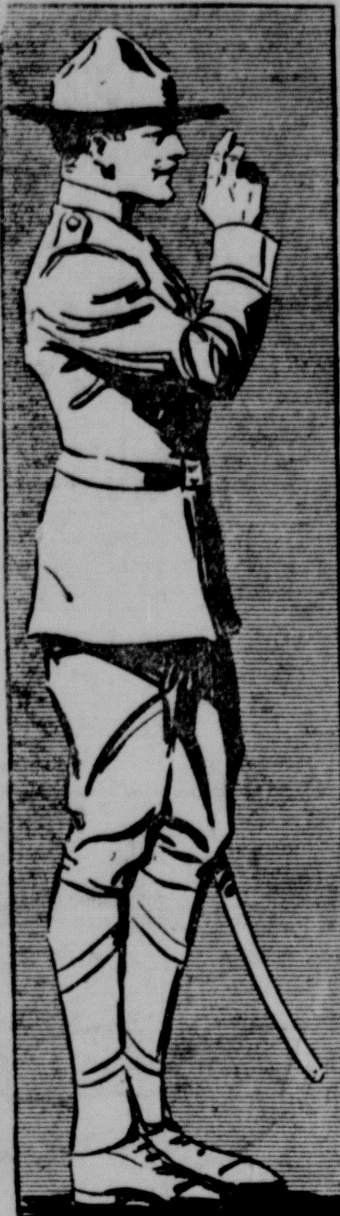

The evangelist announced that tonight he would preach on the subject, "Is the Great World War the battle of Armageddon?"

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock he will preach to the public school children and anyone else desiring to attend.

DELEGATE TYPOS BACK FROM MEET

LOCAL PRINTERS BELIEVE FORWARD STEPS TAKEN AT AUSTIN STATE CONVENTION.

The Texas Printers' State council, which held its annual meeting in Austin, June 26-27, took a forward step, in the opinion of most delegates, when it was decided to change the composition of the body to include pressmen, stenographers, bookbinders and photo-engravers. It is expected that these allied unions will affiliate with the new organization, which will be known as the Texas Allied Printing Trades council.

H. C. Colley of Houston was re-elected president, H. D. Keith of Fort Worth vice president, A. C. Wright of Austin chairman of the executive board, and Louis H. Hicks of Waco secretary-treasurer. In addition to the duties of secretary-treasurer, Hicks will have charge of the employment bureau which the council maintains without cost to employers or employees. A large number of employers have benefited during the last year through this bureau.

The council, to whose efforts is due credit for initiating the free textbook amendment which will be voted upon by the people of Texas, was addressed Wednesday afternoon by Superintendent W. P. Doughty of Texas education, who explained the workings and merits of this proposed change in the textbook system. Under the new change, Mr. Doughty said, the state will take over the school book depositories heretofore operated privately, and there will be no hitch or delay in issuing books. It is hoped eventually to have the textbooks printed in Texas. One of the principal slogans of the council for years has been, "Keep Texas printing in Texas." Kansas, California and perhaps other states are now printing their own textbooks, and it is believed that Texas is capable of doing this, thus keeping within her borders millions of dollars now going to the North and East.

The allied council will meet hereafter at the time and place of the State Federation of Labor, three days preceding the meeting next year falling to San Antonio in May.

Entertainment features of the meeting included a dinner at the Driskill hotel, at which all the Austin publishers were present and made speeches, and a boat ride on Lake Austin.

SATURDAY IS LAST DAY FOR NEW AUTO REGISTRATION

Saturday is the last day for registration under the state auto license law. Dimmers must be installed, under the law.

Percy Willis, president of the local auto dealers' association, has just returned from Austin, where he had a conference with D. E. Colp of the highway commission regarding registration. Colp states that auto licenses will be distributed thru the auto dealer, garage or accessory dealer that accepted the registration.

Details Forming Slowly But Surely in Enrollment of American Women in War

According to information furnished the News yesterday with regard to national registration of women the state division of the Council of National Defense perfected permanent organization in San Antonio on June 5. Mrs. Fred Fleming of Dallas was made state chairman; Mrs. Lee Joseph, San Antonio, first vice chairman; Mrs. C. W. Connery, Fort Worth, second vice chairman; Mrs. A. B. Griffith, Dallas, secretary; Miss Adena DeZavalla, San Antonio, treasurer.

Committees will be appointed in all cities and towns, also a committee for each county.

It will be the duty of the county committees to establish units in rural townships and in villages. Registration points should be named in each city or town.

The National League for Woman's Service has an organized force of workers. The league machinery will be used.

Mrs. Walter B. Sharp, state chairman of National League for Woman's Service will co-operate in the general service.

The Hoover registration cards will be ready for distribution July 1. Let me urge every woman in Texas to sign and return the pledge cards to Washington and thus join in the great and urgent service of food conservation for our nation.

We will also co-operate with the Texas State Council of Defense.

WACO IS A LEADER IN SECURING SYSTEM OF BLOCK AUTO SIGNS

In securing the new block system for numbering automobiles, Waco is among the leaders of the state. Fort Worth was the first city to make application for this improvement and with these two central Texas cities adopting the plan others are falling in line.

"The advantages are many," states J. C. Killgore, "in the first place, we will now be able to locate a Waco auto wherever we meet it. There will be no red tape to unwind if a driver breaks a law. His number will be easily recognized. We have been granted 6000 numbers in block; just where they will start will be decided by the proper authorities when the numbers are issued."

Mr. Killgore states that the request made to the state highway board was granted instantly and that they were pleased with the action that this city had taken in the matter.

LIST OF THOSE HELD FOR NOT REGISTERING SHOWS SMALL PCT.

A review of the arrests in connection with violations of the June 5 registration law shows that the percentage for this vicinity has been unusually small. Officials are of the opinion that only a small percentage of the offenders have as yet been caught in the dragnet, however.

The official list, as compiled by United States Commissioner J. F. Allen, Temple, is as follows: William M. Allen, Temple; Frank Tabor, Waco; Charles Richards, Howard Sheffield, Groesbeck; Ira Sims, Domingo, Gallison, Gabrielle, Gruella, Bartlett; James Ferguson, Hearne; Pies Garnett, Hillsboro; Clato Sanchez, Clinton; D. Brooks, Blum; Robert L. Griffin, Hillsboro, all of whom are held to the federal grand jury; Frank Watkins, regular army; John W. Collins, Waco, released on personal word to report to the grand jury.

ELM STREET REVIVAL.

Twelve conversions Thursday night swelled the total for the Elm Street Methodist revival to 112 since the meeting started only a short time ago. Splendid singing and special services have been enjoyed nearly every day and night. There will be a meeting for men only on next Sunday afternoon. Rev. A. P. Lowery will conduct the services. Rev. E. V. Cox, pastor of the church, states that the revival has so far been one of the most successful ever conducted in East Waco.

MRS. F. B. McBOON DIES.

Word has been received in Waco of the death of Mrs. F. B. McBoon at St. Louis. Mrs. McBoon was a former resident of Waco and was the aunt of Mrs. W. H. Davis. She is survived by one son and a brother and sister. Her sister is Mrs. David Kelly of Waco. The funeral will be held in St. Louis.

ARE YOU ACQUAINTED WITH NEW AUTO LAW?

Due to the fact that penalties for violation of the new state law in regard to motor vehicles which will go into effect on July 1 were passed at the special session of the legislature and have not yet been printed for general distribution the following type-written extracts from the amendment which were received by local officials from the secretary of state will be of interest to all motor owners.

"Second offenders cannot get off in court with a fine of less than $10 and costs, which will total $17.50."

"The penalty for speeding for the first offense remains at the present rate, from $5 to $10."

"Any peace officer may arrest a speeder without a warrant when he is confident that the offense has been committed."

In Waco during the past week a large number of arrests have been made for violation of the tail-light ordinance. Several cases of speeding also have been handled. It is likely that a revised traffic ordinance will be drawn up in order that it will agree with the state law.

Tonight! Take Dodson's Liver Tone! Better Than Calomel For Liver

Calomel sickens! If bilious, constipated and headachy read my guarantee.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel or bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your liver, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50c bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful to night, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot sicken or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Such enterprise deserves the fullest

SAVE YOUR SEED OATS.

FARMERS, save seed oats!
This is the burden of an appeal which has come from the department of agriculture, office of cereal investigation, to the committee on organization for national defense, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. The farmers of Texas will render a great service to the country and make money for themselves if they will thresh their oats and store them for seed. There is a great shortage in the oat crop, throughout the Southern states, and there will be a good demand for planting seed. This is official information from the department of agriculture, and farmers need have no fear of being misled in the matter.
Growers who are able to store any surplus seed are urged to write at once to A. B. Conner, chairman of the committee on seed stocks, Agricultural and Mechanical College, College Station, Texas, answering the following questions:
1. How much surplus oat seed have you for sale?
2. What are the names of the varieties of oats which you have?
3. What is the quality of the oats?
4. How pure is the seed?
5. Where was the seed grown?
6. What is the test weight a bushel?
7. What price do you desire?
Farmers will please number their answers, and make them clear and definite. If it is not possible for them to answer all the questions, they are requested to answer as many as possible.
Many inquiries are being received at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas as to where good planting seed can be obtained, and to answer these it is necessary for Mr. Conner to know just who have seed oats for sale, and how much each man has.
It is very important that the farmers respond to this call, both for their own benefit and for the good of the country.

BEATING THE DRY WEATHER.

HE lived on the black, waxy prairie land almost due north of Dallas in a county that bordered on Red river.
His corn crop failed completely, but he never gave up!
His wheat and oat stubble land was untouched.
On the 26th day of July he started his wheat drill over the stubble, putting in sorghum cane.
On the same day he put four mules to a lister and began laying off rows, following immediately behind with a planter, putting in milo maize.
After the maize was in, June corn was planted.
The work was finished in three or four days.
When he planted these things the earth was dry and there was not a shadow of a chance for a seed to come up until rain came.
Rain fell in about one week after last seed were sown in the dry earth.
Then came the milo maize and the June corn made fine yields. Early-frost nipped the corn just a bit, causing it to appear shrunken, but it weighed out twenty-five bushels to the acre!

Cane was cut with a wheat binder;
maize with a row binder.
The farmer fattened ten head of hogs and fed twelve head over until next year's crop was made.
He ran a ten-mule force and fed the animals on these crops from the time of harvest until the next year's crop was made.
MORAL: Never give up. One victory is recompense for a thousand defeats.
The corn crop of Texas is nearly nothing this year. Large areas are burned up so far as corn is concerned.
Every acre of corn land that has failed and every acre of stubble land should be planted to food and feed crops.
Take a chance! Remember that the world belongs to those who never quit.
Bankers and merchants should see to it that no farmer in their locality fails to plant fall crops by reason of lack of funds to purchase seed. Secretaries of chambers of commerce and executive officers of other business organizations should take steps to secure seed for their various localities.
We have all seen plenty of rain in July, August and September following a dry winter and spring. Have seen it more than once. We may see it this year.
June corn, milo maize, Spanish peas, peanuts and soy beans will make a crop in about 100 days. Other crops mature about as follows: Sudan grass, 65 days; fetterita, 75 days; New Era, or hay pea (blue-speckled) 65 days;
black-eyed and whippoorwill peas, 75 days; butter beans, small variety, 75 days. These crops can be grown practically anywhere in Texas if they are up by the end of the first week in August. Only a little rain on them is needed. Some have been grown when up even later.

CARDS ON THE TABLE.

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The time has come when the two parties, or one of them, in the present world war should lay the cards face up on the table.
In other words, each contestant should declare in plain terms, exactly what he is fighting for, and he intends to do if he is victorious.
Germany and Company will not do this, because it is a coalition of autocracies the central principle of whose theory of government is that a superior, official, hereditary class, and not the whole people, is responsible and supreme in directing the affairs of a nation.
England, France and Company, however, ought to do it, because they advertise themselves as democracies; and in a democracy the people ought to know what's going on and what their rulers aim to do.
One of the first phenomena of the Russian revolution was a popular movement to induce the government to state its precise peace terms, whether it was going to grab territory, exact indemnities, and the like. Whether this movement was ill-advised and diplomatically managed or not, it was an indication of the proper temper of democracy. The people are not disposed, when they are in control, to suffer, become impoverished, and die, all for something they don't understand, for issues that in the end are to be decided in a secret chamber by the chess play of a few diplomats.
America, through her president, has stated clearly enough what she wants.
She wants the freedom of the seas,
she wants to break Germany's power and will to robe and slay, and she does not want any other nation's land or money.
We oppose Germany because she represents an intolerable national egotism; she proposes to do business upon the theory of Germany first; and the only alternative to that is the theory of the world first, humanity first, with every small nation guaranteed its existence.
There is a great deal of talk in America and still more in Russia and the neutral countries of Europe, that "British patriotism is equally egoistic, and its purpose in this war parallel to the German purpose." Great Britain is declared to be grasping at Mesopotamia and the German colonies, France at Syria, Italy at Austrian provinces, and so on. Why not come out plainly and declare just what an allied victory will mean?
H. G. Wells, in a recent letter to the London Chronicle urges such statements, not mere discussions and diplomatic understandings, but "such full and plain statements as will be spread through the whole world and grasped and assimilated by ordinary people everywhere—statements by which we as a people will be prepared to stand or fall. Great Britain has to table her world policy. It is a thing overdue.
No doubt we have already a literature of liberal imperialism and a considerable accumulation of declarations by this statesman or that—something that can be put beside President Wilson's clear rendering of the American ideal. We want all our peoples to understand that our empire is not a net about the world in which the progress of mankind is entangled, but a self-conscious political system, working side by side with the other democracies of the earth, preparing the way for, and prepared to sacrifice and merge itself in, a world confederation of free and equal peoples."

American Hero of the Foreign Legion Tells the Story of His Fight for France

By CAPTAIN CHARLES SWEENEY.

Of the Foreign Legion.

(Captain Sweeney has succeeded admirably in the series of articles of which this is the first in pointing before his readers an idea of war from the private soldier's point of view. He tells just how the famous Legion Etrangere was made over into the most widely known fighting organization in the world, and while emphasizing the necessity for hard and earnest work has not failed to portray the lights and shadows of life in the trenches.)

No. 1—Training the Private for War.

We met in Rouen on Aug. 26, 1915, we recruits for the Foreign Legion. It seemed to me the veterans of the old Legion who had been given the task of breaking us in wore an air of dejection. Certainly no crowd ever looked less soldierly than we did. There were a dozen nationalities and as many tongues. Rich men, dandies, poor men, toughs, of all heights, complexions, ideals, clothes, and morals stood in a disorderly group. We were alike in but one thing.

We meant to fight for France. We loved France. Something in each of us, voiceless and confused as we were, told us that the world would be the gainer if France won and immeasurably the loser if France were crushed. I do not know that many of us carried the argument further. The officers hurriedly sorted us into groups by nationalities. I was sent to the English group. Not many of us had any previous military experience. We seemed hopelessly rid of that fault.

"Fall in."
We straggled down Rouen's streets in a disorderly column of fours. That night we slept in straw under the benches of a school. Next day uniforms were issued to us, and we embarked upon the course of training which in six weeks made us over into the raw material for soldiering. No other nation than the French ever attempted such a thing in so short a time, but France was driven by necessity. At the end of our six weeks we were sent into the trenches. We completed our training under fire.

At five o'clock each morning at Rouen we heard the reveille. At first we stumbled out of the school. As the days went on we emerged from our straw more alertly, for our physical condition was bettering. The first task before our instructors was to make us fit men for the hard work ahead. We used to walk five or ten miles out in the country and back again each day. No bands the King and "Tipperary" and kept step to the tunes. Our non-commissioned officers were all old Legionnaires from Algiers.

Aching muscles and stiff joints and swollen eyes were the rule those days.
The old Legionnaires had no pity on us. We thought they were iron men, but by and by we became iron men, too. We had got as far as "about face" in our instructions when one night we were loaded on cattle cars and taken to Toulouse. Forty men to the car, not enough room to lie down or even to sit up in.
No straw. An agony of fatigue. Three weeks at Toulouse, twenty, thirty miles a day, hours spent in squad and company formation. Fat fell away from us.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES—If Pa Had Turned Around.

—By Pop.

Study Your Manners.

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE.
Author of "The Riddle of Personality,"
"Psychology and Parenthood," Etc.
It was the famous Dr. Johnson who once declared:

"Sir, a man has no more right to say an uncivil thing than to act one
—no more right to say a rude thing to another than to knock him down."
And a second, though less famous,
moralist has well said:

"Rudeness and ill-nature are among the most expensive luxuries in life."
The high cost of rudeness—this indeed is a theme worthy of universal meditation. Especially should it be mediated by the man who has his way to make in the world.

The other day I learned that an acquaintance of mine, a manufacturer, had suddenly hoisted signals of financial distress. The news did not surprise me.

Beginning business with the advantage of inherited wealth, this manufacturer had also begun it under the tremendous handicap of bad manners.
From the day I first met him I was forced to recognize that he was "one of the rudest men I have ever known."
He had absolutely no consideration for others. Aggressive, harsh, selfopinionated, he figuratively elbowed his way through life.

Now, just as people resent being elbowed literally, so they resent being elbowed figuratively. They give elbomers of any kind a wide berth. They become hostile to them.

This manufacturer made enemies from the start. He alienated his associates. He embittered his employees.
Is it any wonder that he has at last been forced to acknowledge himself a failure in business?

Without exaggeration I might say that rudeness and bad manners in general cost millions of dollars every year in discharges from employment, uncompleted sales, lost contracts, and bankruptcies.

Consider the business men of your acquaintance. You will have no difficulty in identifying among them some whose bad manners have wrought them financial injury.

Come closer home. Consider your own case. If your manners are not what they ought to be, I will warrant that at times they have been costly to you.

Hark back through your business experiences and you will admit that I am right.
Yet you need not remain a slave to bad manners. Your emancipation is always within your power.

To achieve it you have only to appreciate that bad manners are always the result of lack of respect for the feelings of others, and that this in its turn is usually the result of colossal selfishness.

The rude man is pre-eminently a self-centered man. He is thinking of himself first, last and all the time.
This makes him oblivious to other people's rights and other people's privileges.

Accordingly the conquest of selfishness is the first indispensable step to insure the development of good manners. To conquer selfishness, the habit must be formed of trying to put one's self in another's place whenever contact occurs with another.

As soon as this habit is formed kindheartedness will replace hardness.
And kindheartedness is the best of all seeds for the germinating of good manners.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 28.—The things which Ostede Stedam does not know are, as he says himself, legion. Or to quote him exactly, "lots." He has a suspicion that he is alive, knows that he is employed regularly, is a loyal Polish-American, and beyond that is not even curious. He lives his own carefree life in his own way—unfettered by knowledge.

The other day a policeman saw Ostede sweeping off the steps of a Fifth avenue hotel at which he is employed as porter. The policeman noted the stretch of shoulders, considered the collapsible brow, estimated the porter's age and asked him if he had a conscription registration card.

"For what?" asked Ostede—just like that.

"For the army," explained the officer.

"But I got a nice job here," smiled Ostede, indicating the broom and growing dust pile.

"That's all right," said the policeman, "but you have to register. All young men have to register until the war is over."

"The war?" howled Ostede. "What war? Have we got war yet? Spain?"
"No, Germany."

Ostede was completely amazed. "You want me to join?" he asked. "Sure I join," and, deserting the work in hand, and acting precisely like an enthusiastic volunteer, Ostede strolled down to make his mark on the necessary papers.

lows. Nell goes back to her husband and Billy pursues Hetty's friendship while she works at Sanger's and later at the Bethlehem Machinery company. He takes her to Cameron park in his car on a picnic where he tells her he loves her, but for the moment scouts marriage.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Mistress of the situation for the first time, I mentally took stock of this potential husband. On the credit side of the ledger I placed his good looks, his evident good breeding and ancestry, his college education, his pleasing manner, his jolly, good-nature.
Regretfully I turned to the opposite side of the book. I was forced to debit him with fickleness, a lack of a high sense of honor, and, I feared, a general weakness of character, for I knew that he, independently, had accomplished nothing worth while in all his twenty-eight years.

The coolness and lack of shame with which he had brushed over his conquests and the complacency with which he awaited my collapse into his arms had the effect of steadying me.

A homely saying of my dear, plain mother's came to my mind: "Marrying is sure a leap in the dark, daughter. City clothes and money don't make a real man."

This reverie had flashed through my mind in a very few seconds, but Billy, becoming impatient at my inexplicable delay, held out his arms boyishly.
"Don't keep me waiting, little girl. Let the only condition be that I love you with all my heart."

"That's exactly it," I took him up eagerly. "You would have to love me with all your heart, and until death parted us. And I am seriously afraid that you are incapable of that."
His face flushed with anger. "I have asked you to marry me. Isn't that enough?"

"It certainly is not. Oh, don't you think that I don't want to say yes, but you see a woman wants to take out a sort of life insurance on love. You would have to promise that there would never be any other woman. I'm not the kind of woman that would sit by the midnight candle waiting for you to come home. Why, in Rogers there is a couple that has been married only two years. She's just the right kind of wife and they have a little baby. But she sits by the window sometimes until two o'clock in the morning waiting for him to come home. She and everybody else knows who it is that keeps him out."

Billy did not answer for a few seconds, then he took my hand between his own and kissed it gently.

"You have a good many things to learn, little brown squirrel. You don't understand men. You are asking me to promise something that I suppose almost every man does. But I'm a little too decent to give my word. I can't say what my actions in the future may be. I love you now. I think now that I would be true to you."

"For your sake I wish I could promise you in true lover-fashion that I shall never love another. But I can't.
I'm willing to take a chance at matrimony with you. It's a sporting proposition."

"You may find out a lot of unsavory facts about me and be ready to cry
'nuf' within six months. I may like domestic life and the tameness and sameness of marriage. Do you want to take a chance with me?"

I rose and started down the steps of the Magic stairway, my heart like lead, and the beauty gone from the June world.

"You're forgetting the picnic lunch," Billy's voice, quite nonchalant, came down to me. I turned on the last stair and looked up at him. I tried to express all my outraged pride and scorn for him in the glance.
(To Be Continued.)

Capt. Chas. Sweeney

Our faces grew lean and hard and eager. On to Mailly for company and battalion formations.

"What is that?"

It was the sound of the guns. It was the first time most of us had heard them, but from that time on we were never out of hearing. We were being made into soldiers in the atmosphere of war, in the practical French way.
Every day we saw the wounded on their way to the rear. The smells of the hospital became familiar to us on the streets. Our minds grew used to the thought of wounds and death. We were hardening to our work, although we did not know it. One afternoon the word came that we were to leave for the front that night. Perhaps twenty-five per cent of us were veterans of the Moroccan wars. The rest were raw recruits, but strong and fit. In six weeks' time we had been made fit for trench warfare.

"One battalion for the front at once."

We had reached Verzenay after several days' march. My battalion was chosen and we started for the front in a soaking rain. Underfoot the fields were marshy, so that we sank mid-leg deep in the mud. For the first time that day I came under fire. I had been made orderly, and as we did not know the road to the trenches I had been sent from Verzenay to find Colonel Glaudel, a veteran of the Moroccan wars. I came out of the street to overlook the plain which leads to Rheims when the shrapnel began to fall about me. I felt funny.
That is the only word for it. Funny. We went on to Beaumont.

A broken village. A battered, crushed, ruined little town. Walls, houses, church all beaten down. It was the first time our men had seen anything of war. They looked at these things stupefied, amazed, a little frightened. It stood in the ranks, silent, flinching, angered by this danger to which there was no reply and for which it seemed there was no need. Lips trembled. Yet our men were not cowards. It was only that this was new. We were ordered back to the banks of the canal.

How we shuffled back through the dust and the shreds of pottery and the broken masonry of the walls. Frightened, of course. The scream of the shells and houses and in the little gardens which were pervasively green in spite of war, hardened—a clear stream of brown water, bordered by a very center of the hom-and there the platforms on which the country women kneel to wash their clothes in the stream.

It seemed almost familiar to us, this scene. For there were men, kneeling on those little stages, washing their clothes, bathing in the stream, sitting on the banks, sewing kits in hand, playing cards, gossiping. It was quiet and homey and peaceful, in spite of the shells that burst such a little distance away.
These men were veterans, and that bombardment that had so shaken us was merely an incident of the day to them. We began to comprehend Here we had to open order drill every day. We went out five or six miles and now, with the guns sounding in our ears and the Taubes flying overhead.

For the American Woman

WHEN HE GOES TO WAR.

By Mary E. Walter.

She was saying good-bye to her soldier husband. She was a girl of 22, on whose face was reflected her love of the stalwart fellow by her side. He was on his way to a military training camp, giving his service to his country. He had explained to her what his going meant, that while he would doubtless see her again, he was subject to the first call for troops to be sent abroad, and if the call came it was his duty to respond. And if he went—she knew what that might mean.

His train was about to go. She held his hand. She looked into the face of the husband who made her little world. Her eyes widened and her expression grew tragic from the feelings in her heart. "Good-bye," he said at last, and kissed her again and again. She clasped both her hands round his neck and buried her face in the hollow of his shoulder. Lovingly he touched the hair that brushed his face. She pressed her lips again and again to his military coat. Her whole body trembled. Then, quietly she let him go. Her look that followed him only a woman who was known such parting can understand.

It was a look of prayer—of pain and resignation, but most of prayer. The last moment when she clung to her love and then stood apart looking her farewell had shown her fully the sad and awful thing that war can mean to a woman who loves and is loved. It had shown her more.

"Not that I am rebellious," she said with the fears of parting still wet on her eyes. "As a woman and a citizen I know my duty as he knows his. I see the justice of his going. What I feel only a woman that loves can understand."

"Yet now that he is gone, now that I know what it means to let him go away, I can see a new duty clear before me. It is the plain course that lies before every woman in time of war. It is not to mourn, to fear, regret or complain. It is to pray. My duty is to pray daily for him. My duty is to pray daily for all this mortal error, this turmoil of war, may arise the truth and the right, not pray not from my own self-will, but from selfish desire, but with faith that we all, men and women alike, will be given divine strength and will see the divine intention.

"I wish I could join every woman in the world, whether she has sent away her soldier or not, in prayer without ceasing. I am sure it is true that 'More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of.' If every woman involved in this war, directly or indirectly, would pray daily and pray aright, who knows what might come of it? Such prayer might have the power of the trumpets and the ark and the shouting about the walls of Jericho." Tears came afresh to the young wife's eyes. "Now that he has gone I never knew before I had such need to pray."

The Girl's Job

WANTS AN EVENING SCHOOL.

By Jessie Roberts.

"Dear Miss Roberts:—I have gone to the Hebrew Technical School for girls and have taken the manual course including a course in designing. We were taught only the foundations, and I would like to continue and perfect myself in that course, as I was told I have a talent for it.

"I should be greatly obliged if you would give the name of some evening school where I could study during the summer months.

R. K."

Since you send no name or address

I cannot tell you anything definite. But there is no trouble in getting information of schools. Write to the board of education for information as to evening schools and courses during the summer. A study of the telephone books is always an excellent plan, and you can inquire at the public library for such school papers that might assist you. Plenty of courses on designing and all other subjects are offered nowadays, and it is a pity the information is not made more easy to get and more complete. I get many letters from correspondents who do not seem to have any idea how to get hold of school information.

Before you begin to study at the school you select take the trouble to find its standing, look it over a little before joining. Managers of a good school are glad to have you do this. They want you to be satisfied with the tuition it gives. In making a bargain to buy education act as sensibly as you would in buying anything else. Don't go blindly to work at the first place you strike, simply because it calls itself a school.

MAYOR PROCTOR AT MART RETURNS FROM BIG MEET

Mart, June 28.—Mayor W. B. Proctor has returned from the Texas League of Municipalities at Dallas. He reports an interesting meeting, from which he attained many good practical ideas of city government.

Mayor Proctor is a man wide awake to the needs of the town, and with the help of the two city commissioners, R. W. Cowan and Edward Dunn, he expects to make considerable improvements in the waterworks system, to put forth his best efforts in beautifying the town and to make the city of Mart still more progressive. The people of Mart have confidence in Mayor Proctor and are giving their hearty support in his efforts to better the city.

To Be Sure.

"We can all do something to help." "Yes, those who can't do anything else can sit back and advise the rest."

PARADE BUSINESS STREETS YESTERDAY TO ADVERTISE BIG MART EXHIBITION.

In an enthusiastic, effective and sit-up-and-take-notice advertising campaign for the Mart Fair and Fat Stock Show forty-seven auto loads of men, women and children from Mart visited Waco Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. A parade was staged which attracted the attention of everybody before the advertising matter was distributed.

Mayor B. W. Proctor, President Sears Earle of the Mart Fair association, Secretary E. M. Barnes of the Mart Commercial club, Editor J. L. Spencer and scores of others were along with the boosters of the fair.

Lead by Scout Band.

The automobiles were decorated and carried banners and posters regarding the big fair. The parade was led by the Mart Boy Scout band under the leadership of Band Master C. E. Parnell, and presented a most creditable appearance. The Boy Scouts also were very active in handing out advertising matter regarding the big fair and fat stock show, which begins July 3 and lasts until and including July 6.

Waco is arranging to have a big representation at Mart, and the advertising campaign yesterday afternoon will tend to stir up interest anew in the coming event. A program of great excellence has been prepared for each day of the fair.

When the Mart party reached Waco the parade turned into Austin street at Third. There were 47 automobiles with from four to five persons to the machine and two big trucks which carried about a dozen persons each, and when strung out with the band made a decidedly impressive showing.

Parade Business Streets.

The Mart delegation passed west on Austin street to Eighth, south on Eighth to Franklin, east on Franklin to Fourth, north on Fourth to Washington, west on Washington to Fifth, south on Fifth to Austin street, and there the "parting of the ways" began, those composing the Mart boosters breaking up into groups, parking their cars here and there and getting busy talking, advertising and compelling attention towards the fair.

Had Waco not been so completely obsessed with the recruiting work and the closing of the Red Cross work there probably would have been some kind of public recognition of the visit of the Mart party, but most of the members said that they preferred to quietly mix around with the Waco people, who are their friends and neighbors, and distribute literature and tell about the big on-coming event.

Distribute Posters.

Among the pieces of literature distributed were copies of the official catalogue of the Mart Fair and Stock Show, this being a handsome booklet of sixty-one pages inside the covers, containing in addition to the program and details of the event, many pages of various forms.

Officers of the association are: H. S. Earle, president; E. M. Parks, vice-president; R. W. Bass, secretary; directors—H. S. Earle, R. W. Bass, G. T. Pearce, J. L. Spencer, E. B. Dromgoole, Seth Reed, E. M. Parks, Robert Nickels, F. F. Criswell. This is the tenth annual event. Each has grown larger, until the fair has taken rank with the really big fixed occasions of this character in Central Texas. The fair will open at 9 o'clock Tuesday, July 3. Many attractive premiums have been offered in the stock show and other sections.

There will be music, racing of all kinds, exhibits, speaking by men of great prominence, carnival companies, and something doing day and night. Everything except the speaking will be at the fair grounds. The opening address will be delivered by County Judge J. B. Alexander.

Remember Cotton Palace.

The Mart people did not forget the Cotton Palace while advertising their fair, and some of the literature referred to "The Mart Fair and Texas Cotton Palace, the Two Greatest Yearly Events." Mart has been one of the staunchest friends of the Cotton Palace, and this fact was mentioned at the meeting of the Waco Y. M. B. L.

directors Tuesday night when plans were set on foot for getting a great delegation to go to Mart during the fair and especially on Waco day.

Among the more than two hundred men, women, boys and girls who formed such a cheery sight yesterday afternoon on the streets were: Mayor B. W. Proctor, C. J. Russell, E. M. Barnes, secretary of the Mart Commercial club; President H. S. Earle of the Mart Fair association, T. E. Norwood, Mabry Wolverton, E. M. Parks, Editor J. L. Spencer, R. W. Bass, W. E. Spencer, W. H. Horne, C. E. Parnell, T. H. Lumpkin, L. B. Hundson, Ed B. Smyth, H. E. Nash, R. Ramsel, Rev. J. W. Mayfield, R. G. Murray, E. S. Henslee, J. I. Flemmons, Glenn Wilson, Howard Wilson, A. D. Tankerslee, Roy Connally.

The party left for home about 7 o'clock, though some members did not go until later.

RIESEL BEATS OTTO

Special to The News.

Riesel, Tex., June 28.—The strong Otto team came over today for the Stock show game but after seven innings of a great game, with the score five to nothing, the Otto boys quit on a decision of the umpire.

The return game will be played at Otto soon.

Riesel will play Big Hill tomorrow. Riesel would like to arrange a game with Mt. Calm, on their grounds.

The score for yesterday's game by innings:

ON ADVERTISING TRIP.

Special to The News.
Mart, June 28.—The Mart fair boosters left today at 1 p. m. for the second boosting trip this week. There were forty-six autos and approximately 300 people in the procession. They were accompanied by the boy scout band, which will furnish music for the crowd.

They went through Otto to Marlin, return by way of Perry to Riesel,
where they will remain forty minutes for the Riesel stock show. From there they will go to Waco, the principal stop, where they remain for two hours and thirty minutes.

The first boosting trip was Tuesday.
On this excursion, Brenham, Bighill, Thornton, Groesbeck, Springfield for lunch, Mexia, Tehuacana, Munger, Coolidge, Hubbard City, Mt. Calm and Prairie Hill were the places visited.
There were twenty-three cars on this trip, which went the distance of 105 miles.

PREPARE FOR FAIR.

Special to The News.
Mart, June 28.—The Hammar Furniture company will have a tent containing a rest room for the benefit of those injured by accident at the fair grounds this year. They will furnish a Red Cross nurse to serve those who are unfortunate in getting hurt or who become ill.

This feature was added to the fair last year and Mr. Hammar states that four patients, who were badly hurt, were taken care of during the last fair. This will be a large tent, capable of accommodating the ladies and children who desire a nice, cool place to rest. There will be plenty of ice water and comfortable chairs for the guests. The fair directors are deeply grateful to Mr. Hammar for this added feature, which eliminates the lack of conveniences at the fair grounds. All emergency cases and patients will be taken care of free of charge.

Monday was Red Cross day in Mart and the amount of one thousand, seven hundred and forty-nine dollars and fifty cents was contributed to the cause.
The canvas of the town was made in exactly four hours and contributions have been received from approximately one thousand people. This campaign is remarkable in many respects; especially so for the speed in which it was accomplished. Chairman Earl B.
Smythe of the Commercial club called the meeting at ten o'clock Monday morning at which plans for the campaign were perfected. At two o'clock the various teams began their work, and at six o'clock the amount mentioned above was in hand, a complete canvass of the entire city having been made.

There is to be a Baby show in the city auditorium at Mart on Tuesday, July 3, at eleven o'clock in the morning.
E. M. Parks of the Mart Fair associations has the matter in hand. The attraction promises great interest, as there are prizes for almost kinds of babies except ugly babies, and many fond mothers are preparing for the event.

The initial meeting of the Mart library association was held in the Commercial club rooms recently. Officers and directors were elected, E. S.
Gause having been named as president and one hundred and thirty-five members enrolled.

Quite a refreshing shower of rain fell in Mart at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon. It was a light shower, there being less than a quarter of an inch rainfall, and perhaps not more than an eighth of an inch. It was very welcome, however, as it revived vegetation and cooled the atmosphere.

E. W. Panchard of Riesel has received the appointment from the commissioner's court to fill the unexpired term of Judge Teer, as justice of the peace of this precinct. It is understood that Mr. Panchard will move with his family from Riesel to Mart. Mr. Panchard is one of the leading citizens of Riesel and his removal to Mart will be welcomed by her citizens.

The Ian Shay family has returned to Mart to make its home, after having lived in Penelope for a short time.
Mr. Shay holds the position of Western Union operator and express man at Mart. This family has many strong friends who are glad they have returned.

Miss Lorena Stockton of Plainview is visiting friends in Mart.

Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock twenty-five automobiles left Mart filled with 100 enthusiastic boosters.
The party went out for the purpose of advertising the Mart fair, which will be held from July 3 to 6, inclusive.

The party visited towns in Limestone, Falls, Hill and McLennan counties. The automobiles were decorated with signs and streamers. The boy scout band of Mart went with the party and furnished music at all the stops along the way.

The Methodist church in Mart celebrated the 100th anniversary of Methodism in Texas last Sunday. The meeting was planned by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Lindsey, who introduced the service with a short address. He was assisted by Rev. Jordan of Thornton, who was the first pastor of the Mart Methodist church when it was organized twenty-seven years ago and by J. I. Campbell, who is a member of the Mart church. Mr. Campbell read an interesting paper, giving in detail the history of the church for twenty-seven years to the present day. The service was well attended.

Mart contributed $1,749.33 to the Red Cross and subscribed $50,000 to the liberty loan fund. This is a splendid record which few towns can equal.
